

adapt

Applications are the interface used by employees that drives an organisation's productivity.

Customers spend time and money training staff for maximum productivity; they spend budget on updating their company computing hardware but forget about keeping the application estate up to date to match the business future plans.

Planning upgrades to operating systems without looking at modernising the delivery of applications will quickly put operations back to square one, leaving employees and productivity waning.

SCC's Application Modernisation Services provides customers with full Applications Lifecycle Management.

This offering includes:

- Applications Discovery and Validation
- Applications Sequencing and Packaging
- Applications Assure
- Application Patching
- Application Containerisation
- Application Strategy
