Customer Story:

How we helped a law firm improve its productivity

SCC Vision is the perfect fit for organisations looking to modernise and enhance their IT infrastructure for a more effective offering. And that's what we achieved for Browne Jacobson, a leading full-service law firm that came to us looking for a data and AI partner.

“

Working with SCC, we were really at home. We felt like we had a similar culture in the way that we approached the problem and very quickly we understood what needed to be done. There was a really good conversation about how practically we could take that forward to deliver the solution against the goals we had.

Chris Fenton

Head of Data & Architecture, Browne Jacobson

1

The challenge:

Browne Jacobson recognised that Gen AI was becoming more important for its clients. The law firm needed to empower its team of lawyers to understand the technology themselves, to be able to give the right advice to clients.

2

The solution:

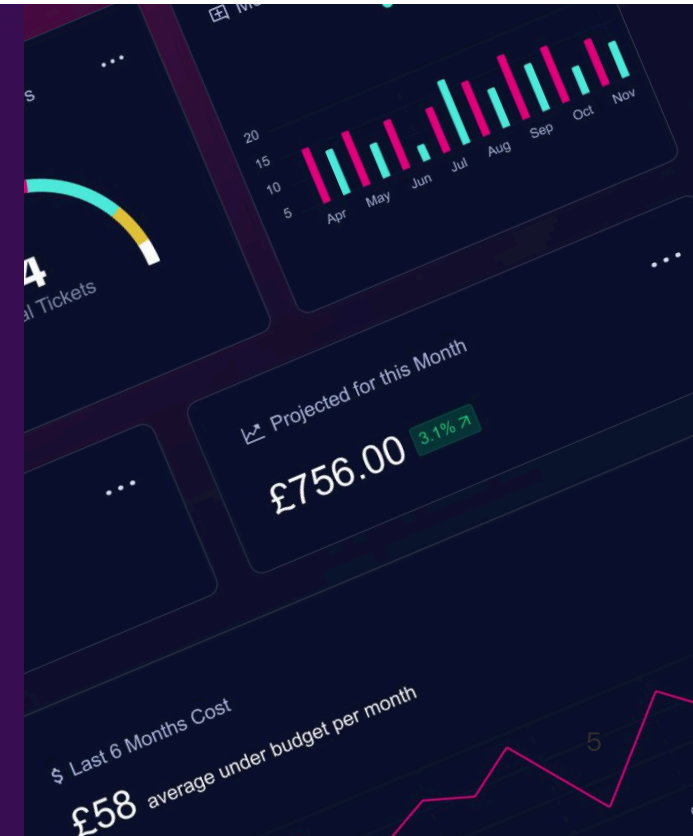

SCC helped Browne Jacobson build JAC, a secure, in-house GenAI tool built on Microsoft Azure using Azure OpenAI technology.

3

The outcome:

The innovative use of GenAI tools has elevated the quality of the advice lawyers give to clients. While our comprehensive and robust adoption programme keeps the firm ahead of evolving demand.
